THERE WAS MANY A CALL FOR ICE WATER AND THE ELEVATORS WORKED OVERTIME

Godmothers, in Red Cross garb, took over the Park hotel Saturday in the drive for war funds. At the top in the circle is dainty Miss Lucile Boyol, deliberately breaking the law by selling chances on a punchboard. The striking-looking elevator girl is Miss Emma Sue Smartt, calling out lustily, "Floors, please!" By her side is Miss Katherine Gager, who is rushing some leeway upstairs to some thirty quest. Posing as Joan of Arc in the elevator doorway is Miss Helen Winn, and shining the officer's shoes is Miss Doris Carter, shining 'em up bright in the expectation of a tip.

A number of pretty young society buds of Chattanooga demonstrated on Saturday at the Park hotel that an establishment of this kind can be operated by "girls only," and at the same time be done in a successful way from a financial standpoint.

Approximately $500 was realized by the "Godmothers' association," which had entire charge of the hotel during the week-end.

The operation of the hotel was carried on the entire time systematically, with a young girl in charge of each department who realized that it was all being done for the Red Cross, and so put their whole hearts in the work.

Some one has asked: "Did those young girls really shine shoes?" Yes, they did. And some one else was heard to say that they gave good shins, too. It was a Red Cross shine, and as the girls shined away they could see pictured before them what a Red Cross dollar would do for the boys "over there."

"Don't you want a Red Cross shine?" "Won't you buy a cigar?" or "Please call your floor?" was heard on every hand, and the patrons of the Park developed an unquenchable thirst, smoked innumerable cigars, even punched punchboards in spite of the law, and the elevators were worked overtime.

The elevator girls, Misses Emma Sue Smartt and Helen Winn, took in 5 cents for every passenger. Tips were in order for the "bellhops," one of which was Miss Katherine Gager.

Miss Gloria Lamb reported that the girls running jitneys between the army post and the city made $75 and received a number of donations.

Miss Catherine Phillips reported that over $200 was made on tips in the dining room.

The afternoon and evening were given over to social events at the hotel. A card party was given in the afternoon and a dance in the evening, at which a number of the officers from the camp were present.

atre Tuesday afternoon:
Queen Rose, Sailors' Hornpipe, Ballet de Fleurs, Titania-Papillon-Gavotte, Red Bird, Knave of Hearts, Jewels, Sleigh Bells, Bluebirds, Charming Scarf Dance, Toy Soldiers, Rosebud Garden, Irish Chorus, Slumber Song.

SOLDIERS FURNISH MUSICAL PROGRAM

Entertainment at First Baptist Church Saturday Featured by Selections by Soldiers.

Circle No. 11, with Mrs. S. O. Banks, leader, was in charge of the entertainment for the soldiers Saturday night at the First Baptist church. By request of the circle the program was mainly furnished by the soldiers, provided by Mr. Burke, secretary from "Y" 27. Two vocal solos were rendered by Giuseppe Casasse in Italian. He was accompanied by Clarence Linsenmeyer, who later gave some splendid piano selections. Both young men were of Company B, recruiting section of the medical corps.

A soldier quartet was composed of Maxwell C. Agnew, of Maryland; Charles Stanley Hoover, Ohio; Elmer Bowers, Ohio, and Israel Mayerson, New York. These young men possess splendid voices and showed fine training. They were repeatedly encored.

A piano selection was given by Mr. Furukovsky and vocal solos by Messrs. Westlow, Joseph Casasse and Leaman, all of the army post.

The soldiers were assisted by Miss Pearl McWhorter and little Miss Martha Shaban, who gave several very catchy readings.

The regular meeting of Centenary Ladies' Aid society will be held Tuesday afternoon at the church.

The last meeting of the club year of Chattanooga Woman's club will be held Tuesday afternoon at the courthouse. The session will be marked by the installation of officers elected earlier in the spring.
